Active Students & Membership

Active Students are any user who is currently paid-up to be in a class. Both members and non-members must be an active student to use the facility.

You must schedule your class time each week using the booking service at:

WWW.CLAYARTSVEGAS.COM

General Policy Statement

For the health and safety of everyone, it is vital that studio users always follow studio policies. Studio users will lose their studio privileges if their behavior is dangerous or detrimental to the studio or other patrons. Please remember CAV is an adult art studio. Work created at the studio may range from functional pottery to adult, religious, political, or ??? ...themes. We celebrate the diversity of ideas and the creative process. If you find diverse art offensive, CAV may not be the right environment for you.

All classes, workshops, and paid activities are non-refundable.

CAV is not responsible for any personal items or valuables brought into the studio or in the parking lot.

No children or friends are allowed in the studio, except in the case of shopping or a scheduled special event that specifies children or guests are permitted.

No outside pets are allowed except at the studio at any time, Clay Arts Vegas has service dogs on site.

PLEASE DO NOT FEED MARCUS OR CAESARE (AKA Chaz)

General Student Policies

- Be courteous to fellow students, staff & instructors.
- Studio doors open one hour prior to the start of class, except for Saturday mornings. Doors are locked 15 minutes after class/open studio is over. Plan your arrival and clean up to be within the scheduled time for your booking.
- Students may not work in the studio outside of scheduled class or independent studio times, or during a class in which they are not enrolled.
- Class times are intended for classes. If you are not taking the instructor's class you will be asked to leave and return during independent studio time in accordance with your membership/non-membership status. During class, it is required that you do the class project.
- Active students get one 3-hour class a week and 1 hour of open studio time in the hour before their scheduled class, except for Saturday morning when independent studio is one hour after class.
- Usage is consecutive weeks from the time of your first usage of the facility. There are no refunds for missed weeks. Any closures that occur during your 8-week period are accounted for in your enrollment dates. If you are not sure about your enrollment dates, please ask.
- Active students receive limited drying space for work.
- Work made in the studio will receive one bisque and one glaze firing not to exceed firing policy defined in the Firing & Kilns section. Work must be finished and on glaze shelf at the end of your last class session to be included as part of the class, otherwise, additional firing fees may apply.
- You must pay to fire work made outside of the studio.
- All glazes must be purchased. We do not provide glaze.
- All firing processes must be completed within your 8-week session. Items that need additional service will be charged accordingly.
- All policies and procedures are subject to change at the discretion of Clay Arts Vegas, and without notice.

Membership

- Members are bound by the same general policies as noted above. Members receive additional class time, shelf space, and firing allowance.
- Membership is an additional fee to get additional privileges and is valid for 1 year. The membership must be renewed to maintain privileges.
- Membership is for one calendar year from the date of purchase, or from date of expiry when renewing.
- Members must be active students registered in the current 8-week session to use the facility.
- Members may attend two classes and two studio times per week, while they are active students.
- Members get larger shelf space.
- Members receive discounts on classes and many workshops.
- Members receive priority for special events and showings.
- Shelf space is rented as part of the class fee. If the member is not registered as an "active student", the shelf space is forfeited. When the member rejoins as an active student, a new shelf will be assigned.
- Membership fees and privileges are subject to change at the discretion of Clay Arts Vegas, and without notice.

Shelving & Storage

- Students are assigned shelf space, either ½ shelf or a full shelf depending on membership status. All work must fit on your shelf measuring (approximately 13” tall x 14” deep x 24” OR 48” long). This is also your firing space per month.
- Non-members receive a shared shelf.
- Shelves are primarily for drying pieces; they are also to store limited extra clay and tools. You may leave glaze and other items, but you get no additional drying space. We encourage you to obtain a toolbox or tote for glaze and large tools. CAV cannot be responsible for lost or stolen items.
- Shelves may have no more than 50 lbs of clay on them in storage. Wet and drying combined.
- Additional shelving may be provided for studio-sponsored projects. This is at the discretion of management.
- Artists who have large pieces can rent additional shelf space, as space allows. Firing fees for oversized work will apply and such work must be received and marked by the front desk. Any oversized work without prepaid mark will be removed from the building.
- For students assigned the top shelf: The bottom of the CAV green plate rail is the top of your shelf space. There will be nothing above this height.
- Lockers are available on a first-come-first-served basis and are for members only.
- Shelving is “rented space” as part of the class fee. If your class has expired, so has your shelf space. If your class has expired, you have 10 days to re-enroll and you will be responsible for payment for those days.
- Re-enrollment in classes will be dated according to your expiration date if you have been occupying shelf space.
- On the 10th day after your class has expired, your shelf will be cleared. All work will be discarded, clay, tools and glazes will go into stock for our outreach programs. Personal items will be discarded.
- If you attend classes or have materials stored in the building after the end of your 8-week session, you will be required to pay for a new full 8-week session.
- You are responsible for keeping your classes and membership current. Your expiration date is clearly marked on your shelf label.

Marking Your Work

- You must put some kind of mark or signature, cone temperature of the clay, and date of creation (I.e. TB 5/16 ^5) so that it can be identified and fired by staff.
- Please be aware that un-dated/ unlabeled pieces will be discarded.
- Ask if you have questions, ASK! We cannot help you if we don't know you need something.
- Broken work will not be fired.

Glaze

- If you have never glazed before, please ask for assistance during a scheduled class.
- All work must be bisque fired prior to glaze fire.
- Certain glazes tend to run and stick to kiln shelves; therefore, the following policies must be followed:
  - You need to leave an unglazed foot on all your pieces.
  - Leave approximately 1/4" of space from the bottom of the work unglazed.
  - Glaze and Underglaze must be wiped off the bottom of all pieces. Any piece with glaze on the bottom will not be fired. It is your responsibility to clean the pieces before you put them on the shelf.
  - We suggest making "cookies" to put your work on when glazing. "Cookies" must have cone temperature on them. You must also glue your work to your cookie with Elmer's Glue.
  - Any piece that appears to be over-glazed will not be fired.
  - Any damage to kilns will be fined.
- Glazing may be done at the front tables. You are responsible for cleaning up after yourself.
- Use of wax resist (available in-store) is to help provide a glaze-free foot, it does not stop a pot from sticking to shelves. Wax must be 100% dry before entering the glazing area. Put paper down prior to using.
- Experimental or test glazes must be fired first on a test tile in a glaze-catching sacrifice pot. You are responsible for any and all damages to shelves or kiln.
- Any work to be returned to the building for firing must be stamped by the front desk before removal, to receive firing included with class. If work is not marked, regular firing fees will apply.
- All work returned to the building must be left with the front desk to put on firing shelves.
- All firing processes must be completed within your 8-week session. Items that need additional service will be charged accordingly.
- Damage done to kiln shelves or kilns from over-glazing is your responsibility. You will be charged for damages.

Firing & the Kilns

Due to the nature of clay bodies, glazes, kilns, electricity, and human error, there are occasional anomalies in fired pieces. We will try our best to avoid these anomalies; however, we cannot guarantee a perfect firing every time. Please be prepared for the possibility of a misfire.

- CAV will only fire work made in the studio using clay purchased at CAV. Firing of outside work/ clay will be charged using standard firing fees.
- CAV provides one bisque and one glaze firing for work made at the studio. Re-firing is only done when paid for, according to the standard firing policy.
- CAV will not fire any broken or cracked work. We understand that each creation is special, but damaged work risks breaking and damaging other students' work.
- Students should not "rearrange" work on the shelves for firing. Please see the staff if you have space issues on the shelving.
- Non-member students may fire 4300 cubic inches of bisque and 4300 cubic inches of glaze a month. This is the approximate size of a milk crate. (Note bisque may be stacked but glaze needs to loosely fill that space in single layers with a half inch of space around it).
- Members may fire 8700 cubic inches a month (this is the space of your shelving area). If you are making more, or larger work, standard firing fees apply.
- The kilns will be fired on a regular basis. Firings are done when there is enough work to fill the kiln. We fire on a first-come-first-served basis, and size. Larger pieces may miss a few firings to accommodate the maximum number of students.
- We will not "bump" other students' work for rush firings. Plan on giving yourself at least one month to bring any work to completion. Private firing is an option at an additional cost.
- Production work is not encouraged at the studio. If you are making large quantities of repeated work you will be asked to pay for firings. Standard fees apply. We define production work as the making of a quantity of repeated or similar work. This includes jewelry and beads even if they take up less than your allotted kiln space.
- We fire to Cone 018 (luster/decal) Cone 04 (bisque), Cone 5 (glaze), and Cone 10 (additional glaze & firing fees apply). We will low-fire 04 glazes with bisque firings. We will also Luster fire your work with a small fee.
- Experimental materials may only be fired in the kiln with special permission from the staff. This practice is highly discouraged. If permission is granted it must be in writing and included with the piece on the glaze shelf.
- Make sure you put your pieces on the correct firing shelf! The shelves are labeled "Green-ware" and "Glaze Fire". Low-fire glazed work should be handed to staff for firing. If you place the wrong glaze or clay on a firing shelf you are responsible for all damage to shelving and kiln.
- Special kiln firings (decals, luster, Raku, ^10 Oxidation and Reduction), and crystalline are possible but fees may apply.
- See "Standard Firing Procedure" for further details regarding firings.

Standard Firing Procedure

- Your work must be signed or stamped for easy identification.
- Pots that are not finished, trimmed, or signed will not be fired.
- Greenware must be dry prior to putting it on the firing shelf. Wet work will be discarded.

- All pieces left on the bisqueware shelf or on the finished pieces shelf for more than 15 days will be discarded.
- Please be prepared for the possibility of a misfire.
- Do not glaze the bottom of your work.
- Do not let work pile up on shelves. Pick up bisque and glazed work in a timely manner and take home finished work, glaze at the front table, or store for a raku firing.
- Firings are only scheduled when needed and when the kiln is filled.
- Multiple firings and refiring are not permitted, except where permitted by management, and is subject to extra firing fees.

Studio Etiquette & Keeping a Clean Space

- Be respectful of the staff, studio, guests, and other students at all times.
- We may require face masks based on government recommendations.
- All our classes start at a scheduled time. We understand sometimes things happen that may make you late to class. If you are late for class you may miss the demonstration, but you will be expected to do the assigned class project. Instructors will not “re-start” a class project for you. It is disrespectful to the instructor and other students in the class.
- If you have reserved a class space and do not cancel 12 hours prior to class, you will be charged $15. The same is true for Independent Studio.
- We work hard to keep a safe, clean, and friendly environment. As studio users, you are responsible for participating in this. Cleaning starts no later than 25 minutes before closing. You must be cleaned up and ready to leave at the building close. Cleaning responsibilities include the splash pan on your wheel, mopping the floor under your work area and any other areas you may have used, such as the wedging tables or the work tables by the windows, or tables in the hand building room, and sponging all work tables, wedging tables and the area in front of your wheel.
- Spray booth is for all to use. Clean the space after you are finished. Clean the screens, pitchers, sticks, etc., and replace in the drawers.
- There is no personal workspace at CAV. Wheels are all first-come first-served. We understand you may have your favorite, but all are professional-grade wheels and well-maintained. Think of using a new wheel like taking a test drive. It can be fun.
- Hand-building tables and slab rollers are shared spaces. Do not spread your materials all over the table. Please pull out the project you are working on and only the materials you need. A reasonable shared workspace is about 2' square. If you need more space for a large project, please talk to staff.
- Wedging tables, slab rollers, and plaster molds are not intended for recycling clay, or as workspaces, or storage space. Unless staff permission is granted.
- CAV provides a designated board for wedging dark-colored clay bodies.
- Never use a metal object to cut clay on hand-building tables or wedging tables.
- Toolboxes/bags should be placed under the table, not on chairs or the table.
- The parking lot is not a space to dry your work.
- No sanding or scraping dry clay or glaze may be done in the studio. Any sanding or scraping must be done outside in the rear parking area of the property. You must clean up any debris you make outside. It is recommended you wear a mask if you are sanding or scraping dry material.
- Do not use the spray booth, slab roller, or extruder without an orientation from an instructor.
- Independent Studio time is your work time. Staff and teachers are not available for personal instruction. Instruction is only offered during scheduled classes or by a scheduled private class ($150 per hour).
- Please be courteous to other studio users. We understand you are excited, but please do not interrupt staff when on the phone or helping another client.
- For everyone’s safety, we require everyone to wear shoes while in the studio.
- You must be able to safely lift 25 lbs.
- We ask that you do not talk on cell phones in the building. Please take calls in the parking area.
- You may not bring alcohol or drugs in the building.
- CAV does not offer makeup classes or issue refunds for classes, workshops, or other paid activities.

General Clean-Up Procedure

- Students are responsible for a clean studio during class and independent studio time. Leave the studio cleaner than you found it.
- The sink area is for all to use. Keep it clean and leave it the way you would like to find the area.
- Scrape excess clay into garbage can, not into the sinks. Fully rinse sponges. Stack cleaned buckets, and water containers above the sink, 'like with like' shapes. Do not leave water or slip in buckets on top of the sink.
- You are responsible for cleaning up your space when you finish. When cleaning use a wet sponge to keep dust down. Also, remember the floor around your workspace; mops and brooms are in wheel and hand-building areas.
- Cleaning responsibilities include cleaning your wheel, the splash pan on your wheel, mopping the floor under your work area and any other areas you may have used, such as the wedging tables or the work tables by the windows, or tables in the hand building room, and sponging all work tables, wedging tables and the area in front of your wheel.
- All clay clean-up should be performed in the clay sink. Please do not leave tools in the sink. They can be put away even if they are wet.
- Please wipe down the wedging and hand-building tables when you are finished.
- Please mop and clean around your wheel after use. All wheels must be turned off and bricks returned to storage.
- Bats and hand-building tools are for community use. They should not be stored on your shelf. Clean them after use and return them to the shelves in the wheel-throwing room.
- Do not store work on bats, Use a wareboard. Students may use one (1) wareboard for storing work.
- Wareboards should only be stored on your shelf when they contain drying pottery. They are not for shelving. please put multiple pieces on the same board. There is a limit of one wareboard per person.
- Clean up, put work away, and leave the building by the scheduled end of class or independent studio time.

Events & Gallery Shows

- Most Gallery shows at the studio are juried and open to artists around the world. If you would like to enter shows in our Victor F. Keen Gallery, please visit our website www.clayartsvegas.com, and follow the procedures as outlined in the prospectus. We encourage you to take part in these events. Studio enrollment does not guarantee acceptance into the show.
- CAV Gallery shows outside the studio are curated by CAV. Shows are invited or open. If the show is open we encourage you to submit work for consideration. Please note that CAV curates these shows, and we must choose work based on craft, as well as an artistic vision for the show.
- The studio does many outside events. If you have an interest in being involved, please let us know.
- The studio may be closed for special events. Please check our schedule online or ask a staff member if you have any questions.

Community Artist Team & Resident Artists

The Community Artist Team helps to run and maintain Clay Arts Vegas. When not teaching or working they are using the studio just like you. Please do not ask them for help when they are not working. They are here because they believe in the studio; please treat them with respect – they need time to make work, just like you.

Having Fun

We strive to provide the best artistic experience, but we also understand that part of coming to a studio is about having fun and community. To be able to provide you with the best experience we need everyone to follow studio policy. If there is something you think would make your experience better, please let us know.

Students are expected to abide by the studio rules, policies, and procedures as outlined in this handbook, on our website, and in the studio, and to compose themselves in a courteous and polite manner at all times. The handbook is available if requested, by email.

CAV management and staff may dismiss from class or refuse enrollment to any attendee who is disruptive or uncooperative, or whose skill level is not appropriate for the level of instruction of a particular class.
